About CinemaTech's Quality - CinemaTech's beauty is not just skin-deep. Inside each Act I recliner is a German engineered steel chassis – just like what you'd find under a fine European sedan accelerating down the Autobahn. With a seating platform that is produced from rolled steel constructed of two offset tiers of sinuous, hand assembled wire springs; you will enjoy a lifetime of responsive support and durability. Other support features include a spring-tensioned webbing support system and a reinforced tubular seat and back suspension frame. Hand-tied springs minimize "reflection" or bounce, while maximizing support and comfort. To ensure proper placement, each coil is hand-tied to the others during the manufacturing process. This assures long-term resilience.
